Just the right mixture of nostalgia and irony in a seamlessly fluent show... frothy but insightful. Two polished theatrical singers with a peaches-and-cream blend."

A star-spangled salute to the movie music of Mickey Rooney & Judy Garland, top box office stars of Hollywood's Golden Era. The show takes a tuneful and nostalgic look at their classic MGM films, including Girl Crazy, Babes in Arms, Strike Up the Band, and Babes on Broadway, and salutes their reunion years later on CBS television. Mickey & Judy's silver screen songbook includes classics by the Gershwins, Rodgers & Hart and Harold Arlen & Yip Harburgh, featuring unforgettable songs such as "Embraceable You," "Our Love Affair," "Where or When," "I Wish I Were in Love Again," and "I Got Rhythm," among many others. Audiences have responded with standing ovations for this musical tribute to two legendary performers and the songs they sang, from their talented teens to their full-throttled prime.

Centennial Galas, as well as in his own one-man show at Carnegie's Weill Recital Hall.

JEFF HARNAR is familiar to television audiences for his acclaimed PBS specials, "The 1959 Broadway Songbook" and "Remember: Songs of the Holidays" (co-starring KT Sullivan). On A&E he was the Singing Narrator of "Gershwin on Ice" starring Dorothy Hamill. Jeff appeared at Carnegie Hall in both the Cole Porter and Noel Coward Florida Carbonell award and a Chicago Jeff Award nomination for her performance as Rosemary.

SHAUNA HICKS starred on Broadway in the Tony-nominated role of Linda in Blood Brothers opposite David and Shaun Cassidy with Petula Clarke, Carole King and Helen Reddy. Other Broadway credits include Meet Me in St. Louis where she understudied the Garland role, and the Broadway tour of How to Succeed in Business, where she won the Flor-
